DEMAND-BASED PRICING

Q&A

Q: How do the Brewers decide when to change prices?

A: Demand-based pricing allows us to better analyze specific market conditions. There is no set schedule, and price adjustments will be made according to market demands.

Q: What seating locations are subject to demand-based pricing?

A: All stadium seats are subject to demand-based pricing.

Q: How does demand-based pricing affect the cost and payment of my group tickets?

A: For the Cubs Saturday, full payment is required at the time of booking. For all other Saturday and Fan Giveaway games a 50% down payment is required at the time of booking. The remaining balance is due 60 days prior to the game. For all other dates, a 50% down payment is required at the time of booking. The remaining balance is due 30 days prior to the game. Any group unpaid within 30 days of the game date will be required to pay the demand-based price when the purchase is completed.

Q: What happens if the demand-based price increases before I pay the balance due for my group tickets?

A: If you pay your balance due 30 days or more before your game date, the price of your unpaid tickets will not change. However, if you pay your balance within 29 days of your game date, the price of your unpaid tickets will be subject to the current demand rate and could potentially increase. All additional tickets are subject to demand-based pricing.

Q: How do I know I'm getting the best price for my tickets?

A: Buy early and save. Fans who plan ahead and buy their tickets early will get the best price for their seat locations.
