ENGAGEMENT TOURS

suggested enhancements

Personalized Baseball Bat	Surprise Guests
A personalized bat is a creative way to pop the question or commemorate the day. Bat will be ready for you behind home plate or in the visiting dugout.	"Hidden" guests can be a fun surprise for your new fiancé. Additional guests will be held in the visiting dugout until you pop the question.
$100 for full size, $65 for mini bats	$250 to "hide" up to 15 people

frequently asked questions

Can I drop off my ring or other items in advance?

Unfortunately we cannot accept any items prior to your arrival.

Where and when can I propose?

If we are able to accommodate field warning track access, the tour guide will lead you on a stadium tour, concluding behind home plate. This is typically where proposals occur. In the case that the field warning track is not accessible on the day of your tour, your Coordinator will work with you in advance to plan an alternate location. Please note that there will not be access to the grass, home plate, or any of the playing field.

I want to surprise my significant other. What do people typically say?

Simply let us know if you want us to say the tour was a prize from raffle, a gift from a friend, etc. and we're happy to pass that message along to the tour guides.

I've seen people get engaged on the scoreboard during a Cardinals game. Can I arrange for that?

Proposals cannot be scheduled during a Cardinals game. When you see that on the scoreboard, it was happenstance that the camera person was in the right place at the right time.

Can I play a song or video after we get engaged?

Unfortunately, that is not an option with our engagement tour packages.

Is parking included in this package?

Parking is not included. We typically suggest parking in the Starr Lot or Lot C, located on 8th Street, opposite Gate 2.
