BEYOND THE GIANT VAULT ◀

Housed in a 5,000 square foot building, the Giants Archives consists of memorabilia and artifacts from our team's 138-year history. This treasure trove includes collectables such as the Giants "Creation Letter" from 1882, the "GIANTS" letters which once sat atop the Polo Grounds in 1957 and the batting helmet Pablo Sandoval wore when he hit three home runs in the first game of the 2012 World Series.

As part of the Giants Fan Page, fans can now, for the first time, learn about and view memorabilia from our collection. When we are able to return to Oracle Park items from our collection can be found either on the Alaska Airlines Club Level displays behind home plate or in the Giant Vault located off the O'Doul Gate.

This week, we are celebrating Willie Mays' birthday on Wednesday so head on over to the vault to check out some Mays-related items like this suitcase (above) that Mays used for road trips. Click to visit the vault ◀◀

COACH SPEAK: KAI CORREA ◀

Each week we'll get to know the new Giants coaches with a few fun questions in this space. This week it's bench coach Kai Correa.

You had an opportunity to interact with Kean Wong in the early parts of camp. In an interview, he said you were one of his little league coaches when he was growing up in Hawaii. At what age did you coach Kean in Hilo and was it somewhat surreal for you to have him in camp on another team you're coaching now?

KC: It was surreal getting to work with KW this spring. His father played for my grandfather, I played for his father, his brother played for my uncle, he played for me (now twice, the first time he was 14 and I was home from college). Our two families really are synonymous with baseball in our hometown and it's fun to carry on that shared family story into the big leagues.

Willie Mays turns 89 this week. What was it like meeting him for the first time?

KC: Ridiculously cool. He told me, "that's too bad, maybe one day you'll get to coach the players." I asked, "what do you mean?" He replied "well aren't you the guy who coaches the bench?" I was still confused, he clarified "Aren't you the Bench Coach?" Finally I got it and said "ohhh haha." I was so in awe of him I had no idea he was yanking my chain. It was a moment I'll remember forever. And I'm sure he'll remember me for my sense of humor.

If you're going to a movie, what is your favorite movie theater snack (either one you bought at the theater or bought beforehand and snuck in)

KC: I'm sneaking in sour patch kids to go with some buttery popcorn and a coke icee.

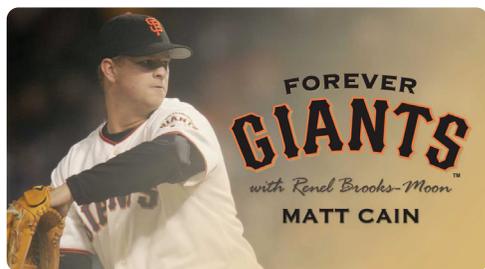

SEASON TICKET MEMBER HERO OF THE WEEK ◀

- ▶ Each week we'll highlight a Giants season ticket member or members who are stepping up during this tremendous time of need. This week we salute the work of Aaron Lim
- ▶ As restaurants continue to have a difficult time during the shelter in place order, Lim wanted to give back to his Chinatown community. He developed a plan to deliver meals from his favorite Chinatown restaurants to his friends and family all throughout Bay Area.

- ▶ Word is spreading about all that Lim is doing as last weekend he delivered over 70 meals. Instead of accepting gas money for delivery, Aaron requests that his friends and family make a donation to support the Chinatown Community Development Center. This non-profit has been focused on helping prevent the spread of COVID in the Single Room Occupancy Housing.
- ▶ The meals are locally sourced from Chinatown restaurants. Lim's determination to help his community has brought hope to these restaurants and the Chinatown Community Development Center.

MISSION ROCK

- ▶ Mission Rock, a partnership with Tishman Speyer and the Port of San Francisco, is 10 years in the making and will bring new homes, innovative work spaces, exciting retail, parks, and much more to the waterfront just south of Oracle Park. Pre-construction activities are underway. The first phase of the project includes two residential buildings, two commercial buildings, retail space, and a major expansion of China Basin Park (see photo on left).

▶ As part of our commitment to the community, the project team constructed an interim connection to the Bay Trail right along the waterfront which has already been a big hit in the neighborhood!

KAPLER'S KITCHEN ◀

Each week, Manager Gabe Kapler will give us some of his favorite food spots from around the US, in no particular order.

Some of you may have read about a lunch I had with Pablo, Shaun Anderson and Andrew Suárez in Miami this past offseason.

We ate at Fratellino on the outside patio and sampled several appetizers, but I'd travel to Coral Gables on a trip to play the Marlins just for the Gnocchi quattro formaggi.

The cheeses are somehow super rich without taking away from the fresh pasta. This is among the best Italian cuisine I've had anywhere.

PRESS BOX EATS WITH CHEF LONGRI-YUM ◀

The Turkey Pot Pie recipe comes from a few different online recipes combined and makes for great comfort food. It's takes Jaime and I back to our childhood when it was frozen Marie Callender's pot pie night. It's also a great way to pile a bunch of leftovers from the refrigerator into a tasty dinner!

- ▶ Preheat oven to 425 and prepare the refrigerated pie crusts as directed on the box.
- ▶ Start by melting the butter in a medium size pot big enough for all the ingredients. Once melted add the onion and cook for 2-3 minutes. Add flour while whisking until it is combined well. Let it bubble for 2-3 minutes once combined to let the roux develop and the flour flavor to cook off.
- ▶ Add the chicken stock and milk next. I use a whisk constantly while pouring both in to keep it from developing lumps. Once both are added bring to a slow boil and let it bubble and thicken.

- ▶ I like the rustic flavor of a little caramelization on my veggies inside so in a separate pan with a little canola I cook the carrot and corn at medium-high heat for 5 minutes or so until they develop a nice brown exterior and then remove from heat.
- ▶ Once the sauce has thickened a bit you can add the remainder of the ingredients (chicken/turkey, all veggies).
- ▶ Incorporate all the ingredients into the sauce and then make sure you taste the filling before you add it to the pie crusts. It will definitely need salt and pepper.
- ▶ Remove from heat and add the filling to the pie dish. Place the top pie crust on a remember to make some holes on top for the air to escape.
- ▶ Bake 30-40 minutes until golden brown. You may need to foil the edges of the crust if they are getting too dark.

INGREDIENTS ▶

- 2/3 cup butter
- 2/3 cup flour
- 1 cup whole milk
- 2.5 cup chicken stock
- 1/3 cup yellow onion
- 1/3 cup carrot
- 1/3 cup canned corn
- 1/3 cup canned peas
- 3.5 cups roasted turkey/chicken
- 2 pre-made refrigerated pie crusts
- Salt
- Pepper

GIANTS PLAYER SPOTLIGHT | MIKE YASTRZEMSKI ◀

- ▶ He grew up in Andover, Mass. an only child, but was surrounded by a dozen cousins who lived nearby and felt like siblings.
- ▶ The grandson of Hall of Famer Carl, he accompanied his grandfather to Fenway when the Hall of Famer threw out the first pitch before the start of the World Series in 2004 and 2007.
- ▶ "There was never pressure to play baseball. If I wanted to be an artist, I could have been an artist. If I wanted to go into business? Would have been great. There was just complete support on that side. So that's probably why I never felt the Yastrzemski pressure. People always ask about the name and the shadow, and I never felt like there was one because nobody ever cast one over me. Even when people on the outside will try to, the people on the inside defended and shielded me from it." said Mike.
- ▶ After his father passed away, Mike and Carl grew closer. Dave Bettencourt, who runs a baseball academy in Haverhill, Mass., gave Mike a key to the facility so he could work in private with Carl on Sunday mornings during high school.

- ▶ Mike says his mother never saw him do homework because it was always done right after school. Organized and focused, he wanted to get it out of the way before baseball or hockey practice.
- ▶ Attended Vanderbilt where baseball coach Tim Corbin was a huge influence. "I felt for my entire life that I was the hardest working person that I've ever seen. Until I met Corbs, and I saw what dedication, loyalty, accountability, all these things really meant."
- ▶ In his senior year, was roommates with current Giants teammate Tyler Beede, who was a junior.
- ▶ Was drafted in 2012 by the Mariners in the 30th round, but chose to return to Vanderbilt for his senior year. The return was in part because he felt loyal to Corbin, to his team and to the promise he made as a kid to his father that he'd get his degree.
- ▶ Graduated with a bachelor's degree in crime and society, and was named to the SEC All-Academic team twice.

FAMILY INFORMATION

- Father, Mike, was a third-round pick of the Atlanta Braves in 1984 and played for the White Sox at the Triple-A level. He passed away when Mike was 14.
- Mother, Anne Marie, worked as a pharmaceutical sales rep traveling throughout Massachusetts.
- Married college sweetheart, Paige, on November 10, 2018 in Nashville, where they live. It was nine years to the day since they had their first date at Paige's sorority formal.

- ▶ Grandfather, Carl, is the cousin and godfather of Gregg Berhalter, the current head coach of the U.S. Men's National Soccer Team. Berhalter's mother's father's sister was Carl's mother.
- ▶ His wife, Paige, left a job as a schoolteacher to work in healthcare sales where her schedule allows her to spend more time with Mike.
