NEWS & NOTES ◀

- ▶ Giants first-round pick Patrick Bailey was awarded the 2020 Johnny Bench award last Thursday, which is annually given to the nation's top Division I male and female college catchers. He is the 21st player to receive the award since its inception and the third member of the Giants organization to have won the collegiate award. Buster Posey won the award in 2008 while Joey Bart claimed it in 2018.
- ▶ During the month of June, you will have the opportunity to commemorate your special moment on the scoreboard at Oracle Park. Pick a theme such as graduation, Father's Day, birthdays or Pride month and include your personalized message. Receive a downloadable photo and see your message running in the ballpark through our live stream scoreboard cam. The program is a fundraising opportunity as you'll be able to choose which non-profit will receive the net proceeds from your donation. For more info click to visit <http://www.sfgiants.com/livescoreboard> ◀◀

THIS WEEK IN GIANTS HISTORY ◀

JUNE 22 1951 20-year-old Willie Mays hit a 10th-inning home run, the first of his 22 extra-inning home runs, off 42-year-old Dutch Leonard of the Cubs. It was a three-run shot that gave the Giants a 9-6 win. Box ◀◀

JUNE 23 2003 Stealing second base at Pacific Bell Park in the 11th inning, Barry Bonds became the first player to hit 500 homers and steal 500 bases in his career. Box ◀◀

JUNE 24 1950 With just 11 career homers, catcher Wes Westrum had three home runs and a triple as the Giants beat Cincinnati 12-2. The Giants belted seven home runs (Hank Thompson, Alvin Dark, Whitey Lockman and Monte Irvin hit the others) in the game, with Westrum driving in four runs and scoring five. Box ◀◀

JUNE 25 2014 Tim Lincecum of the no-hit the Padres for the second time in his career in a 4-0 victory. He had already turned the trick against the Friars on July 13, 2013. He is the second pitcher following Hall of Famer Addie Joss to no-hit the same team twice. Box ◀◀

JUNE 26 1938 Carl Hubbell won his 200th career game, as the Giants beat the visiting Cubs, 5 - 1. Box ◀◀

JUNE 27 1984 In the 3rd inning against the Reds, Giants outfielder Dusty Baker swiped second base, third, and home, garnering three of his four season steals. Baker swiped second, then next batter walked and he got caught in a rundown. Dusty stole third during the rundown and just kept running. San Francisco won 14-9. Box ◀◀

JUNE 28 2012 Madison Bumgarner pitched a one-hitter for a 5-0 win over the Reds. It was the fourth straight shutout by Giants pitchers, setting a franchise record. Box ◀◀

COACH SPEAK: BRIAN BANNISTER ◀

Each week we'll get to know the new Giants coaches with a few fun questions in this space. This week it's Director of Pitching Brian Bannister.

Is it true that you were born in the hospital across the street from Scottsdale Stadium? You've obviously played at the stadium before as a pro in Spring Trainings with Kansas City but did you ever play there as a kid growing up in the Scottsdale area?

BB: My parents both attended Arizona State University from out-of-state, and afterwards they decided to stay in the valley. Me and my brothers were born in the hospital across the street from Scottsdale Stadium. I did play in the stadium as an amateur, but some of my best performances were actually at the Papago complex (which will be our new minor league spring training home).

One of your hobbies outside of baseball is photography, what are some of your favorite things to photograph? Do you have a favorite picture (or set of pictures) that you've taken?

BB: I enjoy photographing people outside of their typical environment, such as athletes enjoying their hobbies, families, travel, fashion etc. instead of just playing their sport. I feel like this gives people a more well-rounded insight into who they really are outside of the spotlight. My favorite photo shoot was of NBA player Shawn Marion (nicknamed the Matrix) in an old warehouse that we designed to look like a scene from the Matrix movies.

Speaking of movies, if you're seeing a film at the movie theater, what is your favorite thing to snack on?

BB: Plain popcorn. Nice and simple. My kids want all the other stuff.

Baseball has been a huge part of your life given that your father was a pitcher in the Majors for 15 seasons. You've been around a lot of baseball stadiums as a kid and an adult. Do you have an all-time favorite?

BB: Fenway Park will always have a special place in my heart because of the history and the opportunity I had to win a World Series there as a coach. My go-to stadium as a scout is the Salt Lake City Bees (AAA Angels) because I love watching a baseball game with the snow-capped mountains of Park City, UT in the background. Just breathtaking.

GIGANTES PODCAST (PRES. BY T-MOBILE) ◀

Erwin Higueros interviews current players, former Giants players, as well as several Giants staff members, focusing on their culture on the new Gigantes Podcast, launching this week. Listen here ◀◀

In episode two, Nick Ortiz, the Quality Assurance coach, talks about his job responsibilities with the Giants, his baseball experience and how the opportunity to be part of the San Francisco Giants coaching staff came about. In addition, he talks about the importance of having a coach who speaks Spanish on Gabe Kapler's staff.

BEYOND THE GIANT VAULT - HANK GREENWALD ◀

Housed in a 5,000 square foot building, the Giants Archives consists of memorabilia and artifacts from our team's 138-year history. As part of the Giants Fan Page, fans can now, for the first time, learn about and view memorabilia from our collection. Little did anyone know when Hank Greenwald was born on June 26, 1935 in Detroit that he would become an icon to San Francisco Giants fans. When the Giants held a retirement ceremony for broadcaster Hank Greenwald his booth-mates, Mike Krukow, Duane Kuiper and Ted Robinson, presented their captain with an official Bancroft Military Cap which demonstrated the respect they had for him, and his longevity in the booth. He spent 16 seasons overall as the play-by-play voice of the Giants on KNBR (680 AM). He was the voice of the Giants from 1979-86 before departing for a two-year stint with the New York Yankees radio team, after which he returned to the Giants in 1989 until his retirement in 1996.

PRESS BOX EATS ◀

Senior Manager, Hispanic Communications and Spanish Radio Broadcaster Erwin Higuera shares his recipe for Huevos Rancheros

- ▶ Fry the tortilla in a small skillet with oil on medium heat. Cook for about 30 seconds on each side until it gets slightly crispy. Then remove onto a paper towel to remove excess oil.
- ▶ Fry the egg in the same pan until it's cooked to your liking.
- ▶ Layer the huevos rancheros by adding the fried egg and black beans on top of the fried tortilla.

- ▶ Add the salsa (diced tomatoes and cilantro) and sprinkle cotija cheese on top.
- ▶ Slice avocado and add it onto the plate.
- ▶ Season with salt and pepper and add a dash of hot sauce to serve.

INGREDIENTS ▶

Huevos Rancheros	- 1 tablespoon finely chopped cilantro
- 2 tablespoons avocado oil, or olive oil	- 1 tablespoon cotija cheese, crumbled
- 1 6-inch corn tortillas are best	- 1/4 avocado, sliced
- 1/4 cup black beans, cooked and drained	- salt and pepper
- 1 egg	- hot sauce
- 2 tablespoons diced tomatoes

GIANTS PLAYER SPOTLIGHT | JAYLIN DAVIS ◀

- ▶ Raised in Greensboro, North Carolina.
- ▶ Jaylin was named after basketball player Jalen Rose. When his little brother came along twelve years later, his parents let Jaylin name the new baby. He chose Amari, after Amari Cooper.
- ▶ As a young kid, Jaylin hung out after school at the barber shop or at his grandfather's used car lot, where he'd throw balls against a concrete wall or hit tennis balls in the gravel lot where the junked cars were dumped.
- ▶ A gifted athlete, he excelled in both basketball and baseball. He was on an elite travel ball teams from the age of eight or nine, either pitching or playing shortstop. He had early exposure to fitness and nutrition when his travel ball team -- all middle-schoolers -- began working with trainer Carmine Pagano. Davis continued working with him through col- lege and the pros.

- ▶ "His demeanor was just different from most people. That was a big factor in his development," Pagano said. He has always had great discipline on and off the field, a quiet, even temperament and he gets along with everyone.
- ▶ He eventually chose baseball as his primary sport. "Basketball was fun, but it just wasn't the same feeling," he says. "Baseball is harder. I like a challenge in life."
- ▶ When he was playing showcase ball as he got older, he pitched a lot, and when he wasn't pitching he played outfield, and scouts began looking at him as an outfielder. He solidified his position when, at Appalachian State, the starting centerfielder got hurt and Davis took his place.
- ▶ The turning point in his development happened his freshman year at Appalachian State in Boone, North Carolina. "He figured out how to catch up with the speed of the game. That sprung a new confidence level," Pagano said. "That freshman year did wonders for him. And he kept getting better little by little." He became the only freshman in school history to be named an All-American. He was also Southern Conference Freshman of the Year.
- ▶ Missed most of his junior season after surgery for a torn right labrum.
- ▶ His first Major League home run was a walk-off against the Rockies to give the Giants a 2-1 win on September 25. Davis became the first Giant to hit a walk-off homer for his first big league blast since Fran Healy in 1971.

- ▶ He met Willie Mays as he struggled during that September in the big leagues. Manager Bruce Bochy told Davis that Mays had a rough start in the big leagues, too, and to just go out there and have fun and play. "You got here," Bochy told him, "so just do what you did to get here."
- ▶ He spent the 2019-2020 off-season training in Ft. Myers but still popped up to Greensboro to work with Pagano for two weeks. "After all those years with him, I knew what I needed to do to get myself ready," Davis said.
- ▶ Jaylin arrived early to spring training in 2020 to start working with new Giants hitting coaches Donnie Ecker and Dustin Lind.
