

Dear St. Pete City Council Members,

I am writing to express my strong support for the Rays-Hines Gas Plant Redevelopment Project. As a resident of St. Petersburg and a dedicated member of the community, I believe that this project holds immense potential for our city's growth, economy, and overall vibrancy.

One of the key aspects that make St. Petersburg such a special place is our beloved Tampa Bay Rays. The team not only brings joy and excitement to our city but also serves as a unifying force for residents and visitors alike. Supporting the redevelopment project will further solidify the Rays' presence in St. Pete, ensuring that they continue to thrive and contribute positively to our community.

Moreover, the redevelopment of the Gas Plant area will serve as an inviting welcome for individuals like me who aspire to grow and stay in St. Petersburg. The revitalization of this space will create new opportunities for residential living, entertainment, and business ventures, making our city even more attractive and livable.

From an economic standpoint, the redevelopment project promises significant benefits for the local economy. By attracting new residents, businesses, and visitors, it will stimulate growth, create jobs, and generate revenue for our city. As someone who partners with businesses to help them expand their workforce, I am particularly excited about the potential influx of new residents and businesses. This growth will not only expand our client base but also create employment opportunities for our community members.

In conclusion, I urge the St. Pete City Council to support the Gas Plant District Redevelopment as proposed by the Rays-Hines partnership. By doing so, we will not only strengthen our partnership with the Tampa Bay Rays but also foster economic prosperity and a vibrant community for generations to come.

Thank you for considering my perspective and your commitment to our wonderful home.

Sincerely,

Ryan Adelberg
