#OPENINGDAYATHOME // #ALWAYSROYAL

While the 2020 season is postponed due to the COVID-19 pandemic, we want to connect with you, our fellow Royals fans. We miss baseball, and we know you do, too. So while the sport is on hold, we're going to provide information, content, and fun videos and activities for our loyal fanbase to enjoy.

WEEK IN REVIEW

STM TOWN HALL WITH DAYTON MOORE

On what would have been Opening Day 2020, Royals GM Dayton Moore held a Town Hall over Zoom with Royals Season Ticket Members. Hosted by Ryan Lefebvre, the interview lasted over more than an hour, and you can watch it here. This is a first in a series of conversations that will be posted to our Royals webpage.

ROYALS RESPOND

The Royals, with the support of the investor group and Community Champions Price Chopper and Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kansas City, created Royals Respond to offer resources and support as well as ways to connect to the Club. The group also created the Royals Respond Fund, which will provide funding for those in need in Kansas City and the surrounding areas. Earlier this week, Royals ownership, Royals Charities and Royals players donated more than 500,000 meals to Harvesters - The Community Food Network through Royals Respond. To see more about Royals Respond, click the logo.

ROYALS SOCIAL

Fans can find something new on the Royals social media channels every day, including Kids Activities on Mondays, Trivia on Tuesdays, Phone Wallpapers on Wednesdays and Original YouTube Content on Thursdays. Throughout the week, look for player videos, including Brett Phillips reading a children's book and Brad Keller's streaming recommendations.
