DID YOU KNOW?

Tigers territories can reach up to 62 miles squared (100 kilometers squared) in size. They clearly like their own space so don't go moving in. It's very rare to find territories of tigers that cross; they stick to their own space.

THIS WEEK IN DETROIT TIGERS HISTORY:

On August 2, 2014, in an 11-5 victory over Colorado, the Tigers scored in each of the eight innings they batted in. Detroit, which also accomplished the feat in 1912, became the first team not to have a zero in their line score since the Yankees tallied a run in every frame against Toronto in 2006.
